A Handsome Building Erected by the Bohemian Settlers

BE DEDICATED NEXT MONTH

Miss Hatton Falis in Her Room and Receives Serious Injuries.

Bohamlan Catholics in Prince George county have creeted a handsome church fow miles from this city, which is to be formally dedicated to the service of Rt. Rev. Bishop Van de Vyver, of the Diocese of Bichmond.

ed to the church is a neat residence, built for the church is a neat residence, built for the priest in charge. Rev. Father Konleek. The Bohemian colony in Prince George is Arowing and expanding. Many of the people have herelofore worshiped in St. Joseph's Church, in this city, coming miles to do so. They are a most worthy, industrious and reliable people, and good farmers. They have not only increased in numbers, but in wealth.

INJURED BY A FALL.

Miss Emma Hatton, residing on East Tabb Street, is suffering from the effects of a fall sustained on Saturday. As she was crossing the floor of one of her rooms, her foot was caught in a rug, and, falling, she struck against a piece of furniture, dislocating a shoulder and receiving other injuries.

Alleged negro crap-shooters were the center, of attention in the Mayor's Court this morning. A large batch of them had been captured in the early hours of Sunday by Officers Beek and Hall, who made a raid on a house on Lombard Street and bagged the whole party. They made a satisfactory explanation of their presence, however, and were disclared. dence, built for the priest in charge,

They made a satisfactory explanation of their presence, however, and were discharged.

TO ATTEND REUNION.

The Petersburg veterans of Pickett's Division are arranging to attend the reunion of the survivors of this famous division, to be held next month on the battlefield of Gettysburg. It is expected that fully twenty-five or more will make the trip to go over the ground made historic by Pickett's superb charge. The Petersburg boys will join the Pickett Camp of Richmond in the excursion to Gettysburg, and the Virginians are assured of a hospitable reception by their former foes in Peansylvania.

Under the vigoruss measures adopted by the Board of Health, the sahitary condition of the city is rapidly improving, and the rate of mortality this month shows a gratifying decrease as compared with that of July. The work of extending sewers and water mulus throughout the city is progressing as rapidly as possible, so as to perfect the drainage system and abolish surface wells. Twenty-eight cases of typhold fever were reported to the Board of Health during the month, and eight deaths resulted from the fever.

Mr. R. F. Kidd, a prominent and respected citizen, is ill at his home, of Guarantee Street.

HRIEF ITEMS.

Postmaster Stith Bolling has made arrangements to send out slips containing weather reports to the farmers along the rural free delivery routes in this section, which will be of great help.

Lewis Ridout, about eight years old, son of Mr. W. F. Ridout, was seriously hurt this afternoon at his father's home, on Hallfax Street. He was sitting on a gate, when a paling broke, and in falling

Mr. Slemp was followed by David stories and jokes not calculated to better the morals of man. Mr. Bailey quoted from the Democratic platform, which has referred to the Fairview incident.

"Is there a decent Democrat," said the speaker, "who will endorse this? If so, the last one of them ought to be dehormed. They ain't fit to live, in this country, much less to rule it." The speaker recited the incident of John Catron taking the package of bailots to the Fairview precinct, and, after they had been opened, were found to be copies of the congressional record cut

R. Walter Dickenson, Senator from this of his profession defended a negro in Wise county for murder, and that he had used his efforts to have the negro pardoned after being sentenced to hang. Mr. Dickenson failed to create any enthusiasm by this remark.

The County Democratic Committee of Tazewell county held an enthusiastic and well-attended meeting here to-day. Detailed plans of organization and methods of campaign work were adopted. Daniel M. Cosby was elected vice-chairman to assist V. L. Sexton, chairman, in conducting the county work. Many visitors were present, and a good old Democratic council was held.

The outlook is promising for the Democratic party here this fall.

He came in the court as the complainant against C. Freidman, whom he charged with assaulting him. Friedman got after Hatose because of Batose's treatment of Friedman's sister, a pretty Jowish girl, aged seventeen. Batose, Friedman stated, had induced the girl to marry him according to the anarchists' customs. He wrote a marriage agreement in Yiddish, which specified that the girl and Hatose should live together as man and wife without a formal marriage. This accumum the induced the girl to sign, although she could not read Yiddish. The paper also specified that the girl should give him half of a store which she owns and half of all the money she may get.

Friedman told the anarchist's history. The girl whom he married, it was testified, was now ill, and sometimes goes into hysterics.

The charge against Friedman was continued, and he was released on his own recognizance. Batoose was held without bail.
